Note: It is the responsibility of the user that the instrument is left in working order. Any damage done to the instrument as a result of neglect, improper use or chemical incompatibility shall result in the user replacing the damaged equipment. Please note that replacement of instrument components can be costly and may result in considerable downtime. Users are responsible for accurately logging instrument usage. For safety, undergraduate students must be supervised by a grad/postdoc group member while working in the lab. Further, both the research director and user must sign this form acknowledging their responsibilities in using the ANALEST Laboratory Facility.

I acknowledge having read this notice and accept the above conditions.
